

6th JAPAN-CHINA JOINT SYMPOSIUM ON PRECISION FORGING

NAGOYA, JAPAN
October 5-9, 1998

Organized by

Forging Research Committee of JSTP &
Cold Forging Committee, Forging & Stamping Institute of CMES

Scope of the Symposium

The 1st meeting was held at Shanghai in 1985, and 2nd: at Tokyo in 1987, 3rd: at Beijing in 1990, 4th: at Osaka in 1992, and 5th at Xi'an in 1996. For each meeting, several tens members from the host country and about 20 from the guest country participated, and about 40 papers were presented every time. Forging Research Committee of JSTP (Japan Soc. for Technology of Plasticity) and Cold Forging Committee, Forging & Stamping Institute of CMES have responsibility for the organization. The purpose of Symposium is the mutual understanding and the exchanging of information on recent developments on precision forging technologies in both countries.

We are now planning the 6th meeting as follows:

Date: Oct. 5 (Mon.) - 9 (Fri.), 1998

Venue: Nagoya City, Japan

Expecting participants: about 50 from Japan, about 20 from China

This time, we would like to invite some distinguished researchers and engineers from Asian countries. At the symposium, our future programme such as the organization of the 1st Asian Precision Forging Symposium may be discussed.

Preliminary programme:

Oct.5: symposium on precision forging at Nagoya Univ.. (keynote lectures and special lectures)

Oct.6: symposium (general lectures including poster sessions)

Oct.7: factory tour to Toyota Motor Corp. (assembly) and Denso Corp. (cold forging)

Oct.8: tour to Aichi Steel Corp. (hot forging)

Oct.9: tour to Asahi Sunac Corp. (forging machine)

Proceedings:

All speakers have to send the manuscripts of 4 pages (A4 size sheet) (for keynote and special lectures, 6-8 pages may be allowed) until the end of August to the organizing committee.

Official languages: Japanese, Chinese and English.

The manuscripts can be written in Japanese, Chinese, or English. Abstract (200-300 words) and Figure Captions must be written in English.

Japanese and Chinese lectures are translated to Chinese and Japanese respectively and the outline will be explained in English. The outline of English lectures will be introduced in Japanese and in Chinese for reference.

Registration fee: 20,000 yen

Accommodation: the organizing committee will inform the participants of the accommodation.
